

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

For the successful completion of this work, I would like to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation to whom I am indebted.

To Professor Dr. Wanpen Chaicumpa, my advisor, for her thought, kindness, teaching, supervision and encouragement. Without her virtues, this study would not have been accomplished. My sincere gratitude and appreciation to my co-advisors, Associate Professor Dr. Pramuan Tapchaisri, Assistant Professor Dr. Pongsri Tongtawe, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, Thammasat University for their kind and valuable suggestions.

I would like to thank my co-advisor, Assistant Professor Dr. Patcharin Saengjaruk, Department of Pathology, Faculty of Medicine, Srinakharinwirot University, Bangkok, for her kindness in providing the leptospire in vitro culture, serum samples of leptospirosis and serum of other febrile illnesses.

My gratitude also goes to Professor Dr. Sou-ichi Makino, Research Center for Food safety and Microbiology, Obihiro University of Agriculture and Veterinary Medicine, Obihiro, Hokkaido, Japan, for his kind acceptance to be my chairperson and external examiner and for his kindness that allowed me to practice some techniques about 2D-DIGE and others during my visit in his laboratory.

I would like to thank Assistant Professor Dr. Urai Chaisri, Department of Tropical Pathology, Faculty of Tropical Medicine, Mahidol University, Bangkok, for her kindness and suggestions about histopathology of the experimental animal.

Special thank to Assistant Professor Dr. Potjanee Srimanote, all members of the Molecular Immunology/Microbiology Laboratory, Ph. D, and M. Sc. Students of Graduate Studies, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, Thammasat University.

Thanks are due to the Royal Golden Jubilee Ph. D. program (RGJ), the Thailand Research Fund (TRF), National Research Council of Thailand (NRCT), and the Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, Thammasat University, for the financial supports.

Finally, I also would like to thank my mother, sisters, my husband and my son for their love and care.
