

Acknowledgement

The author would like to express her fathomless gratitude to her advisor, Assistant Professor Dr. Junalux Chalidabhongse, who not only supervised, but also gave valuable guidance, continual support and encouragement throughout the study. Her practical consulting profession and inspiration are very meaningful for the author.

The grateful acknowledgement also extended to the member of examination committee, Associate Professor Dr. Ekawit Nuntajeewarawat, Associate Professor Dr. Thanaruk Theeramunkong, and Associate Professor Dr. Wichian Premchaiswadi for their useful recommendations and suggestions.

The author also indebted to the National Electronics and Computer Technology Center (NECTEC) for their financial support and several useful Thai language resources. To the project committee for their valuable time and comments. Without them, the author will not have opportunity to complete her research.

Big Thanks are due to all nice SIIT students in information technology department, especially Mr. Thanasan Tanhermhong, who have been extremely cooperation in contributing to the author's work and programming.

Last but not least, the author wish to express her appreciation to her mom and dad, her brothers and sisters, her seniors, and her friends who spend their time to cheer her up, help her with kindness, understand her, and continuous inspire her through five years of the research.